Maria Shmakova

Product UX/UI Engineer

Design Engineer bridging design and development

8 years in design and 3.5 years in development — a combination that shapes how I approach product today.

I solve UX problems at the architectural level, not the cosmetic one: turning 10 tabs into one, a long confusing user flow into something fast and intuitive. UX and data structure are always linked for me — one can require rethinking the other.

EXPERIENCE

Frontend Developer · SportyLabs Digital
May 2025 — present

Working at the intersection of design and engineering — I own a design system spanning CRM, client-facing, and mobile platforms.

- Design interfaces alongside the data models they run on: I see the product from schema to pixel.
- Build and maintain a unified design system across multiple platforms.
- Ship my own work to production — React, TypeScript, Next.js, Tailwind, PostgreSQL.
- Bridge design taste with engineering judgment, closing the gap between what's intended and what actually ships.
